FOREWORD

This year book, the 1950 Feenix, was published to record your many activities and achievements of your high school years. In the future may it be treasured as one of your most valued possessions, recalling the pleasant memories of your years spent here in Denton High.

The Feenix Staff has compiled an annual of which we are proud and which we hope you will always enjoy. May it serve as an inspiration and guide to future annual staffs.

Although there are many persons to whom we owe thanks, the Feenix Staff wishes especially to thank the faculty and members of the student body who have cooperated in making this publication possible. We also express our deep appreciation to Mrs. Lane and Miss Hoover whose helpful advice and suggestions have made this year book possible.

CLASS HISTORY

In the fall of 1946, we, then the freshman class, entered Denton High School. As all other freshmen we were eager to experience high school life. We, like all freshmen, were green, but possessed a deep feeling of pride and confidence. Under the capable leadership of Mr. A. M. Snider we began a career that has led us through four years of hard mental strain.

We entered the sophomore year as "veteran" high school students. A few of our former classmates were not present; but joined by others, the sophomore class moved steadily forward. During this eventful year we were guided by Mrs. Howell Harrison.

As we progressed in work and play, the hours rolled into days, the days into another new year. The Juniors chose as their president, Vance Harrison. We were supervised by Miss Rebecca Dalton.

Our Junior play "Granpa's Twin Sister" and the Junior Senior Banquet "April Showers" proved that we could accept responsibilities.

Our Junior year came to an end much too soon, and we bade good-bye to the 1949 senior class, knowing that in a very short time we would take the places left vacant for us.

We returned as proud Seniors ready to begin our last year's work as high school students. Mrs. E. O. Lane, our sponsor, and Jimmy Harrison, our class president, guided us safely and successfully through our last and most important year.

Our school days at Denton High are over; and as we leave, we wish to say to you who have meant so much to us that we give to you our gratitude and devotion. We will try to live up to the principles and ideals you have instilled in us. With all of you we leave this thought in mind, "The door to success is labeled, 'Push'."

CLASS PROPHECY

Since we tossed the tassels of our caps on graduation night, the never-tiring clock hands have turned around and around many times. Ten years have passed by. It is now 1960.

With plenty of money and with the determination to find out just what each member of the class of '50' is doing, I start my excursion.

Loretta Adams, who has always had an unspeakable love for flowers, is now settled in her own large florist shop in New York. I find her, amid all the splendor her shop could provide, wrapping a large box of orchids. Orchids? Yes And the box is addressed to Vonceil Bisher, who is getting married at last. Wonder who the lucky one is?

Scientist Herbert Roberts spends six long days each week in a laboratory peering through his microscope, moving frequently to relieve his cramped neck; but he does not mention what he is studying so hard. Herbert, you're keeping us in suspense.

Down at the foot of Mount Mitchell, I find Sula Belle Sexton patiently painting the setting sun as it sinks behind the lowest gap. She has made herself famous because of her beautiful paintings.

In one of the "Snider & Buie Department Stores," owned by Thurman Snider and Jay Buie, I find Judith Lea Carroll. She is saleswoman in the toy department. Help yourself, Judy. There are all the dolls, tricycles, balls, and ABC books you could want.

Phyllis Crotts, who has a kindergarten, frequently has visitors. As you might expect her visitors are the "biggest babies"—Lucille Cranford and Clinton Garner.

Don Rea Hedrick and Wesley Terrell, unable to get enough school, have the grand pleasure of teaching school at Denton University for Professor T. K. Huss.

Can you believe it? Miss America 5' 3" tall and tips the scales at 138. She is Zenda Lea Snider.

What is this I hear coming over the radio? The famous Sunbell Quartet—composed of Lucille Dorsett, Leo Buie, Nona Lea Bell, and Ira Bean—will not sing. Wayne Hedrick will accompany them at the piano.

Continued

Mary Lillian Grubb is on her way to England to meet her Englishman. We'll probably hear the wedding bells before long.

What? Doctor Vance Harrison has made Martha Jane Snyder head nurse and Elizabeth Pierce his private secretary at his large hospital which was recently erected. After the serious operation he performed on a Beta Club member at P. T. A., everyone should trust him.

On Hosea Gallimore's train, "The Honeymoon Special," there is always a reserved seat. You guessed it. It's for Mary Ruth Young and Monroe Snyder. Everybody thought they would make that great mistake of getting married.

At a quiet place along Palm Beach, Arlene Morris and Wade Owen are patiently working on a book. Arlene is writing and Wade is making the illustrations. Never thought they could write a book, did you?

At a distance I could see a young lady with her camera. It seemed that she looked like someone I knew, but I could not place her. Then I remembered - she is Frances Goins. And what are you doing? You're photographer for "Life" magazine? Do you really mean it?

Billy Kever, the owner of the world's largest airplane manufacturing company, being unable to find a plane fast enough to meet his need, called in the famous modeler, J. L. Hearne, Jr., who almost immediately produced a plane which broke all the former speed records.

The millionaire, Doris Buie, was paddling her new car at seventy-five miles an hour when Patrolman Roby Morris drove up beside her and motioned for her to stop. When he asked her if she knew how fast she was going, she replied. "Not a bit faster than you were."

The president of the "Harrison Oil Company," Jimmy Harrison, must have specialized in Denton's secretaries for he hired Rebecca Snider and Doris Gallimore for his private secretaries.

Where is our dear teacher, Mrs. Lane? At last she has retired. She is having the time of her life drawing her "rocking chair" money.

Class Poem

Let not be heard a mournful sigh,
Now the parting time is nigh;
For as we go our separate ways,
Dear friends, remember our happy days.

Long ago we small folk met;
I can see our shining faces yet.
Then as we grew and upward sped,
New friends we made; our shyness fled.

Soon our high school days had begun,
Filled with work and play and fun.
Thanks from us to our teachers dear,
For untiring help year by year.

So good-bye to you, Dear Denton High;
As we your children pass on by,
A salute we proudly give to you!
Now our high school days are through.

Class Poet
Phyllis Crotts

Class 7

Let not be heard a word of this
How the passing time is flying
For we are not alone in this
That friends remember our happy days

Even now we shall talk and
I can see you smiling face
Then we are gone and forgotten
How friends we made and shared that

When you first came here and
Remembered your name and face
Thanks to you we are all here
The moment you were by your

In memory to you I am bound
As you were with me in life
A name we proudly give to you
How our lives were all through

With love
Forever yours

Class Song

Now Is The Hour

Dear classmates we soon must part
From the friends we've known for twelve
long years

Sadness is deep in each heart

Now is the hour when we must say good-bye

As we think of our joys and fears and-

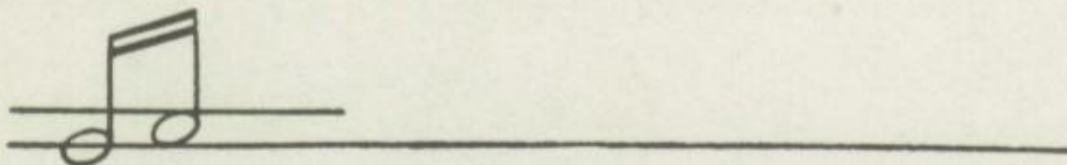

Soon we'll be leaving dear Old Denton High

After we've gone we'll long remember you

And to that memory we'll e're be true.

Mrs. Lane told her Senior English class to write a theme on what they'd do if they had a million dollars. When she took up the papers, Vance Harrison's was blank.

"Why Vance," said Mrs. Lane, "you've done nothing."

"Yep," said Vance, 'that's exactly what I'd do if I had a million dollars.'
